

Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum and Educational Center Curriculum Guide

1021 West Cherry Street
Piggott, AR 72454
870-598-3487

An Arkansas State University Heritage Site

The Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum and Educational Center in Piggott, Arkansas, is the former residence of Paul and Mary Pfeiffer, whose daughter Pauline was married to the great American writer, Ernest Hemingway. During their marriage, Pauline and Ernest were frequent visitors to Piggott, and the Pfeiffers converted their barn into a studio to give Ernest privacy for writing. It was in this unlikely spot that he wrote portions of A Farewell to Arms and various short stories.

Arkansas State University has restored the site to the same 1930s ambiance that greeted the Hemingways during their visits, including a majority of the original furnishings.

The Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum and Educational Center offers educational programming to all ages, especially K-12 groups. HPMEC can satisfy Core Curriculum requirements through lessons on a variety of topics, including:

- ◆ The life and writing of Ernest Hemingway.
- ◆ The agricultural history of the Arkansas Delta region.
- ◆ The history and lifestyle of the 1920s-1930s.
- ◆ The Great Depression and New Deal.
- ◆ The internationally prominent Pfeiffer family.

If you'd like special educational programming on any of these topics, or if you'd like to request programming on another topic, contact Dr. Adam Long at 870-598-3487 or adamlong@astate.edu.

Site Tour Curriculum Frameworks

The Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum and Educational Center site tour is a great supplement to the classroom curriculum for K-12 grade students. During guided tours, students not only learn about Ernest Hemingway's role in Arkansas's literary legacy, but also how certain historical time periods, such as the Roaring Twenties, the Great Depression and the New Deal impacted the people and culture of the Arkansas Delta region. Topics discussed during the tour are aligned with the Arkansas Department of Education Social Studies and Arkansas History Curriculum Frameworks. Also, several on-site programs coincide with the Common Core Standards for English Language Arts.

The Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum, as a historic site, is a cultural document—a primary source—that can be “read” and analyzed by students. Through analysis of certain historical events, cultural changes, and the literary influence of Ernest Hemingway, students garner an understanding of how the site fits into a larger historical narrative and reflects a diverse cultural heritage.

The guided tour and on-site programs offer an interactive opportunity to apply a “reading across the curriculum” approach that is aligned with the Reading Standards for Literacy in History/Social Studies for grades 6 -12.

*For a complete description of the Reading Standards for Literacy in History/Social Studies, please visit:
<http://www.arhistoryhub.com/frameworks/>

As you prepare for your class, the following list can serve as a guide for where the tour content fits into specific Arkansas History/Social Studies curriculum frameworks. The tour can be used to address a specific subject such as the Great Depression in Arkansas or it can provide a multi-subject review for students. Please consult the museum staff on how the tour can be tailored to meet your classroom curriculum needs.

K–8 Social Studies Curriculum Frameworks:

K-4 Geography: Culture & Diversity

G.2.K.2 - Discuss the location of a community and the ways that location affects the people of a community (e.g., Arkansas Delta region).

G.2.1.2 - Explain ways in which the location of a community affects people’s lives, dress, and occupation (e.g., Arkansas Delta region & Pauline Pfeiffer’s European experiences).

G.2.2.2 - Compare the lifestyles, dress, and occupations to those people in other parts of the world (e.g., Pauline Pfeiffer and Ernest Hemingway, European experiences).

K-4 History: Regionalism & Nationalism

H.6.1.3 - Identify historical sites of Arkansas (e.g., Hemingway-Pfeiffer House & Hemingway’s Writing Studio).

H.6.2.3 - Discuss historical people of Arkansas (e.g., the Pfeiffer family’s contribution to Arkansas’s agricultural history and heritage).

H.6.3.2 - Examine historical people and events in Arkansas (e.g., Pfeiffer family, Roaring Twenties, Great Depression, New Deal).

K-4 History: Continuity & Change

H.6.K.6 - Discuss how historical events relate to present day (e.g., stories of Pfeiffer family members' lives, Hemingway-Pfeiffer marriage and its impact on Hemingway's literary legacy).

H.6.1.6 - Explore people/events from the past using primary and secondary sources (e.g., Hemingway-Pfeiffer photographs, family artifacts, books).

H.6.2.6 - Determine how photos and documents are used to gather information about the past (e.g., Hemingway-Pfeiffer photographs and letters).

H.6.3.7 - Analyze a timeline that illustrates selected historical events (e.g., "The Hemingway Connection" timeline).

H.6.4.10 - Examine artifacts relating to events in Arkansas history (e.g., objects located in Hemingway's Writing Studio).

Grade 5 - 8 Geography: Culture & Diversity

G.2.5.3 - Recognize examples of cultural diffusion, cultural exchange, and assimilation (e.g., Hemingway-Pfeiffer European experiences and influence).

G.2.6.3 - Identify the occurrences of cultural diffusion, cultural exchange, and assimilation in local and national history.

G.2.7.1 - Examine creative works as examples of cultural heritage.

G.2.8.1 - Analyze the work of writers and artists as examples of cultural heritage from communities around the world.

Grade 5 - 8 History: Cultural Diversity and Uniformity

H.6.6.33 - Identify the cultural changes of the 1920s (e.g., Roaring Twenties, Jazz Age, fashion, flapper culture).

Grade 7–12 Arkansas History Curriculum Frameworks:

Great Depression

GD.8.AH.7-8.4, 9-12.4 - Discuss the effects New Deal programs had on society in Arkansas during the Great Depression.

GD.8.AH.7-8.5, 9-12.5 - Explore economic and social consequences of the Great Depression.

World War II

WWP.9.AH. 7-8.2, 9-12.2 - Describe the social and economic effects of World War II on Arkansans (e.g., impact on Pfeiffer family, opinions of WWII).

WWP.AH.7-8.12, 9-12.8 - Identify significant contributions made by Arkansans in the following fields: art, business, culture, medicine, and science.

Above photo courtesy of USHMM.

Left photo courtesy of Library of Congress.

Lesson Plan A

Grade Level: K-5

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Reading):

- 3) Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.
- 4) Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Writing):

- 3) Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences.

Lesson Plan:

The lesson begins with a reading of Ernest Hemingway's short story "A Day's Wait." This story tells of a misunderstanding between a father and son. The child, who was raised in Paris, does not understand the difference between Celsius and Fahrenheit. When he hears he has a 102-degree temperature, he believes he is dying. The father does not understand the son's worry until after the son has spent a day believing he is about to die.

Following the stories, discuss these questions with the group:

- Why was Schatz worried in the story? What did he overhear the doctor say?
- What are the two temperature scales that the father talks about? What's the difference between them?
- What does the father mean when he says that "It's like miles and kilometers"? How are Fahrenheit and Celsius like miles and kilometers?
- Using context clues, figure out the meaning of the words "influenza" and "covey".

After the discussion, have the students respond to the following prompt in writing:

In "A Day's Wait," a father and son misunderstand each other. Describe a time in which you misunderstood a member of your family, or a time in which a member of your family misunderstood you. What happened? How did you figure out the misunderstanding? How was your experience like Schatz's?

Though this lesson plan can be completed anywhere, the Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum and Educational Center contains the restored home that is the setting of this story, as well as artifacts such as the Book of Pirates mentioned in the story. Groups visiting the museum are sure to have an enriched experience with the story.

Lesson Plan B

Grade Level: K-5

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Writing):

- 3) Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences.
- 9) Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Speaking and Listening):

- 1) Prepare for and participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.
- 2) Integrate and evaluate information presented in diverse media and formats, including visually, quantitatively, and orally.

Lesson Plan:

The Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum and Educational Center owns several antique stereoscopes, which are devices similar to viewfinder toys. HPMEC also owns dozens of slides for the device, most depicting scenes from around the world.

1. The students are divided into several groups.
2. Each group is given a viewfinder and a stack of slides.
3. The students each look at a different slide and then describe it to his/her classmates.
4. After all students have looked and described, the students get to see the slides that their peers described to them.
5. After all students have seen all the slides, they respond to the following prompt in writing:

Choose your favorite of the slides.

- What is going on in the slide?
- What is the place like?
- What does it feel like?
- What does it smell like?
- What does it sound like?
- What do people do there?
- Use details from the slide to show why you think your place is like you think it is.

Lesson Plan C

Grade Level: 6-12

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Reading):

- 1) Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.
- 6) Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.
- 9) Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches authors take.

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Writing):

- 2) Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
- 9) Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.

Lesson Plan:

Give students a handout (shown on pages 12 and 13) featuring quotations from the letters of the Pfeiffers and Hemingways about the rise of Hitler.

After giving students a chance to read the letters, discuss the following questions as a group:

- What is a primary source?
- Who was Adolph Hitler?
- What circumstances led to his rise to power?
- How might someone have looked at Hitler differently at the beginning of his career than they would looking back now?

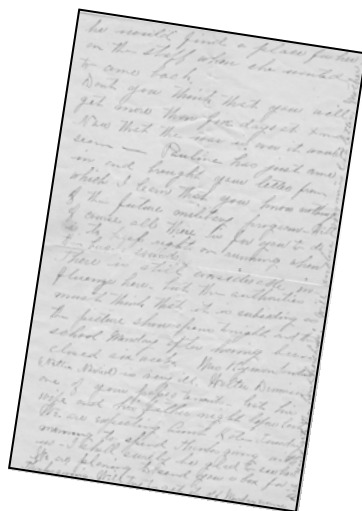

After this discussion, have the students respond in writing to the following prompt:

Explain the different points of view expressed in these five letters.

What do you think led to these different points of view?

Do you see any change in point of view over time?

Though this assignment can be completed anywhere, the Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum provides vital background on the writers of these letters. This background would allow the students to answer the writing prompt much more thoughtfully.

Handout for Lesson Plan C

With Pfeiffers living around the world, it is not surprising the family regularly corresponded about world affairs. What may be more surprising is their diversity of opinion. As Hitler began to gain power in Germany in the 1930s, the Pfeiffers noted his rise and predicted the effect that it would have on the world and on the family:

Letter 1:

“The news from Germany is very conflicting and the real purposes of Hitler, or rather those backing him, are not yet quite apparent. Hitler himself, as is usual with dictators, is employing dramatics and the German people have about decided not to let England and France wipe their feet on the face of Germany any longer, and I don’t blame them.”

Paul Pfeiffer to Pauline (Sept. 19, 1933)

Courtesy of the John F. Kennedy Library

Letter 2:

“I haven’t tried to reach Hadley as I haven’t her phone no. and I’m pretty sure she is in Geneva at the fiasco. Do you know, I think Germany had a point in resigning from the League. I do think she had a humiliating position.”

Pauline Hemingway to Ernest (Oct. 18, 1933)

Courtesy of the John F. Kennedy Library

Letter 3:

“I hate Hitler because he is working for one thing; war. He says one thing with his mouth and does another with his hands. War is the health of the State and anyone with his conception of the state has to have war or the threat of war to keep it going.”

Ernest Hemingway to Mary Pfeiffer (Oct. 16, 1933)
Courtesy of Princeton University Library

Letter 4:

“That is if they will let you in Germany, I don’t know if you are one of the not wanted. I believe they burned your books.”

Gus Pfeiffer to Ernest Hemingway (Mar. 7, 1935)
Courtesy of the John F. Kennedy Library.

Letter 5:

“Leonard K. asked to be remembered to you. He’s still the same Leonard. No longer a Hitler enthusiast quite the contrary- further he makes no apologies. He never hangs out the Swastika flag on the Nazi Gala days. He does pay his dues for he believes in National Socialism but he doesn’t believe in dictators or self power seeking individuals. Instead he believes in sacrificing self for a cause - always has done so & still doing so.”

Gus Pfeiffer to Ernest Hemingway (Mar. 1, 1936)
Courtesy of the John F. Kennedy Library

Lesson Plan D

Grade Level: 6-12

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Writing):

- 2) Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
- 5) Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.

Learning Outcomes (Core Curriculum Anchor Standards for Language):

- 5) Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

Lesson Plan:

During their 1933-34 safari, both Ernest and Pauline Hemingway kept journals of their activities. The journals included descriptions of the animals they hunted. Ernest's journal was novelized and published as Green Hills of Africa. Pauline's journal was never published. In this lesson, students will work on writing descriptions like those found in these journals.

First, students will visit the Hemingway Barn-Studio. They will bring a note pad and a pencil. They will be given a few minutes to look at the animals, and then asked to choose three animals and make notes about them.

Students are prompted to keep in mind various categories of description:

- How do the animals look?
- How do they feel?
- How do they smell?

After the students have had several minutes to observe the animals, the class returns to the Educational Center where students are asked to choose one of the animals they observed and to write a description of it. They are asked to be as specific as possible. For instance, “brown” can refer to a variety of shades. How can a writer describe a specific shade of brown?

After the students have finished their description, each has an opportunity to read what he or she has written. This is followed by a class discussion of what worked and didn’t work in each description.

- Which descriptions did you like?
- Which didn’t work?
- How could you revise your description to make it more effective?

Hemingway-Pfeiffer Timeline

- Oct. 8, 1894 Paul M. Pfeiffer of Cedar Falls, Iowa, marries Mary Alice Downey of Parkersburg, Iowa.
- July 22, 1895 Pauline Marie Pfeiffer born to Paul and Mary Pfeiffer in Parkersburg.
- July 21, 1899 Ernest Miller Hemingway born to Clarence and Grace Hall Hemingway of Oak Park, Illinois.
- March 1901 Paul M. Pfeiffer family moves to St. Louis, where Paul and his brothers Henry and Gustavus establish Pfeiffer Pharmaceuticals, which will become Warner-Hudnut and later Warner-Lambert.
- July 1, 1902 Paul M. Pfeiffer, while residing in St. Louis, purchases first property in Piggott, Arkansas.
- July 4, 1913 Paul. M. Pfeiffer moves his family to Piggott, Arkansas, after promising his wife to place a Catholic chapel in the home.
- August 1918 Pauline graduates from the University of Missouri School of Journalism.
- February 1925 After working for several publications in the U.S., Pauline goes to Europe to work for Vogue as assistant to the Paris editor.
- March 1925 Pauline and her sister Virginia meet Ernest and Hadley Hemingway at a party in Paris given by Kitty Cannell and Harold Loeb.

December 1925	Pauline spends Christmas and New Years at Schruns, Austria, with Ernest and Hadley. Pauline and Hadley have become friends, and Pauline and Ernest are spending more time together.
Oct. 22, 1926	The Sun Also Rises published in New York.
Dec. 8, 1926	Ernest files for divorce from Hadley.
May 10, 1927	Ernest and Pauline are married in Paris.
May 31, 1928	Ernest visits Piggott for the first time. Ernest is working on A Farewell to Arms .
June 28, 1928	Patrick Hemingway is born. The Hemingways drive from Piggott to Kansas City for the delivery.
Nov. 21, 1928	The Hemingways depart Piggott, where they have been staying between visits to friends over the last several months. This is one of several such visits to Piggott.
Sept. 27, 1929	A Farewell to Arms published in New York.
April 29, 1931	Uncle Gus Pfeiffer purchases a house for the Hemingways in Key West, Florida.
Nov. 12, 1931	Gregory Hemingway born in Kansas City.
May 17, 1932	Virginia Pfeiffer completes renovation of Ernest's barn-studio in Piggott.
December 1932	Barn-studio catches fire during a visit by Ernest; his manuscripts saved, but he loses books, clothing, and guns.

Dec. 21, 1932	Movie version of A Farewell to Arms premieres in Piggott.
Apr. 13, 1933	Hemingway goes to Cuba for marlin fishing with Pauline's brother, Karl, and her uncle, Gus Pfeiffer.
June 1933	Virginia begins second renovation of Hemingway's studio after the fire.
Dec. 20, 1933	Ernest and Pauline Hemingway party departs Nairobi for a two-month safari.
Oct. 25, 1935	Green Hills of Africa published in New York.
December 1936	Hemingway meets Martha Gellhorn in Key West.
Feb. 27, 1937	Hemingway sails for Europe to join Martha as a war correspondent. During the next few years he and Martha will have an affair.
Nov. 4, 1940	Ernest and Pauline Hemingway divorce.
Nov. 21, 1940	Ernest marries Martha Gellhorn.
Jan. 26, 1944	Paul Pfeiffer dies in Piggott.
Jan. 29, 1950	Mary Pfeiffer dies in Piggott
February 1950	Pfeiffer home and barn-studio purchased by Tom and Beatrice Janes.
Oct. 1, 1951	Pauline Hemingway dies while visiting her sister's home in Hollywood.
July 2, 1961	Ernest Hemingway takes his life in Ketchum, Idaho.

Selected Bibliography

Primary Sources for Young Children:

Hemingway, Ernest. "A Day's Wait." The Short Stories of Ernest Hemingway. New York: Scribner, 2003. 436-39.
A short story by Ernest Hemingway which is set in Piggott and appropriate for all ages.

Dick and Jane: Fun with Dick and Jane. New York: Penguin, 2004. A re-issue of one of the most popular readers used in schools during the 1930s.

Turner, Ann. Dust for Dinner. New York: HarperCollins, 1995. A story which follows a family during the Great Depression.

Primary Sources for Older Students:

Hemingway, Ernest. "A Day's Wait." The Short Stories of Ernest Hemingway. New York: Scribner, 2003. 436-39.
A short story by Ernest Hemingway which is set in Piggott and appropriate for all ages.

~. A Farewell to Arms. New York: Scribner, 1995. A novel which follows the romance between a wounded World War I ambulance driver and his nurse. Inspired by his own experiences, Ernest wrote portions of this novel in Piggott.

~. "Hills Like White Elephants." The Short Stories of Ernest Hemingway. New York: Scribner, 2003. 273-78. A short story by Ernest Hemingway which is likely based on his experiences with Pauline Pfeiffer Hemingway. (This story involves adult subject matter).

~. "The Short Happy Life of Francis Macomber." The Short Stories of Ernest Hemingway. New York: Scribner, 2003. 3-37. A short story based on the Hemingways' 1933-34 African safari.

Steinbeck, John. The Grapes of Wrath. New York: Penguin, 2006. The classic novel of the Great Depression.

Secondary Sources:

Hawkins, Ruth. Unbelievable Happiness and Final Sorrow: The Hemingway-Pfeiffer Marriage. Fayetteville, AR: University of Arkansas Press, 2012. The only complete biography of the Hemingway-Pfeiffer marriage.

Hawkins, Van. Plowing New Ground: The Southern Tenant Farmers Union and its Place in Delta History. Virginia Beach, VA: Donning Company, 2007. An exploration of the exploitative practices of landowners in the Delta and the union which was formed to end them. These practices contrast the more generous policies of Paul Pfeiffer in Clay County.

Kert, Bernice. The Hemingway Women. New York: Norton, 1983. A biography of the many (and sometimes scandalous) romantic relationships of Ernest Hemingway.

Laymon, Sherry. Pfeiffer Country: The Tenant Farms and Business Activities of Paul Pfeiffer in Clay County, Arkansas: 1902-1954. Little Rock: Butler Center Books, 2009. An exploration of the farming practices of Paul Pfeiffer's business.

Lichtenstein, Jack. Field to Fabric: The Story of American Cotton Growers. Lubbock, TX: Texas Tech UP, 1990. A history of the American cotton industry.

Reynolds, Michael. Hemingway: The 1930s. New York: Norton, 1997. One volume of the five-volume biography of Ernest Hemingway.

Notes

The Hemingway-Pfeiffer Museum and Educational Center is conveniently located fifty miles north of Jonesboro.

